Case of fatal fall continues in Appeals Court

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

Litigation arising out of a fatal fall at the Madison County Nursing Home appears headed for appeals court. Madison County Circuit Judge

EDWARDSVILLE P.J. O'Neill has dismissed the case of Richard

Morton of Collinsville, who filed suit against the county over the death of his father, William Morton, 85, died Feb. 15, 1998, when he fell or jumped 45 feet from the third-floor window of the home at 2121 Troy Road in Edwardsville.

O'Neill dismissed the lawsuit on May 24, saying the plaintiff failed to meet a legal requirement for serving a summons on the correct party ailments are more susceptible to heat-related problems, said Kathleen Gauen, director of ambulatory services at SEMC.

Gauen said that as of Wednesday there had been no heat-related incidents - which was a surprise - but the emergency room staff was ready.

"This is about the time we start to see heat-related emergencies, so I had the staff prepare today," Gauen said. "We make sure we have our stock of fans and spray bottles." Continued high heat over long periods, especially without a cooling-off period in the evening, creates heat-related health risks.

The worst case is heat stroke, when the body loses the ability to cool itself, said

Council tables rezoning

Two acre tract could be annexed into Granite City

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

Aldermen from the Granite City Council Planning and Zoning Committee met Tuesday evening before the regular City Council meeting to discuss a tract of land on the southwest corner of Maryville Road and Buenger Boulevard. After bickering and squabbling for about 35 minutes, the panel walked away without deciding if it should be rezoned.

The tract consists of a little more than two acres. It is located in an unincorporated area of Madison County that could be annexed into Granite City as part of a pre-annexation agreement. It is owned by local attorney Dennis Orsey, who would like to build a law office, with additional office space, on about a half-acre of the land.

Orsey will have to wait until Tuesday's council meeting to see if the building becomes a reality. The council plans to vote on rezoning and annexing the tract at that time after further discussion and study of the building's blueprints, which Orsey presented at the meeting.

At one point, after listening to the aldermen

Madison County

Lawsuit to be appealed

Levy said he has 30 days from the judge's latest order to file his intent to appeal. The key issue will be determining when the summons had to be served. O'Neill says it should have been served within a year of the incident. Levy said he believes case law is not clear.

Levy filed the suit in August, but initially named the Madison County Nursing Home Auxiliary as the defendant, owing it to confusion over who actually operated the nursing home.

It wasn't until the auxiliary responded to the suit in December 1998 that he realized that Madison County, not the auxiliary, should have been named.

The summons was not served on Madison County until 45 days after the one-year statute of limitations for filing the suit, although the county had acknowledged in prior court filings that it was already aware of the suit, he said.

The suit claims that the home's personnel were negligent in allowing Morton to climb out through the window leading from his room. Allegedly, there were no locks or barriers to prevent his doing so. Nursing home officials have said that Morton had a tendency to wander even before he became a resident.

Authorities have said that Morton suffered dementia and may not have been aware of where he was or what he was doing.

His body was found around 6:30 a.m. on an access road behind and just a few feet from the nursing home.

The attorney representing the county, Don Smith of Alton, did not return a telephone call Monday seeking comment.

Rezoning tabled by council trade barbs over the plan. Orsey blurted out, "If you don't agree on the site plans now, I might as well pull the plug."

The site plans, Sixth Ward Alderman Sandy Shaw said, should have been approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission before being presented at the meeting. After the remark, a brief argument ensued, particularly between Shaw and Second Ward Alderman Craig Tarpo, on the legality of rezoning the track without the commission's consent.

"I think you're wrong (about rezoning). Because this man (Orsey) wants it now, that's why we're here doing this," Shaw exclaimed to Tarpo, who stared at her. City Attorney Keith Jensen tried to diffuse the dispute. He said that although the council has the right to rezone the land, such a tactic would set a bad precedent.

"You might as well abolish the Planning and Zoning Commission by doing something like this," Jensen said.

The tract has been a topic of debate among the aldermen for about a month because it is located in an area that is strictly residential. The land would have to be rezoned from R-1 residential to either C-1 or C-6 commercial for the building to be constructed.

I would like to see it rezoned C-6 so that the council would have more control over what might be built there on the additional property," Seventh Ward Alderman Bob Cook said. "I would also like to be assured that the building will not cause any water-related runoff problems in the area."

If the land is rezoned and annexed, ground will be broken by Aug. 3 and the building would be built by Dec. 1 at a cost of about $300,000.

350 race in Tour de Donut race volunteer and club member, said several things attract riders.

"First, they like to do things as a group," he said. "A bunch of people getting together and saying, 'lets have fun.'"

He said the donut aspect of the race is "kind of intriguing."

"You have a calculation you have to make - should I eat more donuts and maybe get really sick and I can't ride - but each extra donut I eat takes five minutes off of my time," he said. "So you have to figure how much it will slow you down versus how much you're going to gain by it."

He said there is also another consideration. "For those of us who bicycle for exercise, you have to figure out how many calories I'm going to burn versus how much I'm putting on for each donut," he said.

The race also drew a few onlookers, like Harold and Celia Bean of Stanton, who have been watching the race from their front yard for years.

"I watch them every year,"

Harold Bean said.

Although he enjoys it, he said he didn't understand it. "It would seem like you would stuff them up a little bit," he said of the donuts.

The race, a spoof of the Tour de France, grew from a small private race by members of the now-defunct Mid-America Bicycle Club.

Gauen.

Symptoms include a high body temperature (106 degrees or higher), very hot and dry skin, a rapid and strong pulse and the victim may be delirious," Gauen said. "A person with these symptoms needs immediate medical attention."

In extreme cases, heatstroke can lead to death. Heat exhaustion is less serious but still dangerous. Symptoms include having pale or clammy skin, profuse sweating, dizziness, cramps or weakness.

To cool off, Gauen recommends using a lukewarm, not cold water spray, bath or shower; staying out of the sun; avoiding alcoholic beverages; and increasing fluid intake.

Tri City eliminated from district tourney

Edwardsville hammers Post 113 in losers bracket

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Tri City's season ended Tuesday with a hailstorm of flying rawhide.

Post 113 surrendered 11 hits, including four home runs, in just four innings and lost 14-2 to Edwardsville in the losers bracket of the American Legion District 22 tournament.

"We were in every game this whole season before this," Tri City first baseman Dustin Murphy said. "But this was ridiculous."

Post 199 jumped on Tri City from the start. Tim Hansel and Chris McCoy reached base to lead off the bottom of the first inning and Matt Bogle drilled a three-run home run off Tri City starter Devin Mayes.

Nick Siebert and Todd Spitzke also scored before there were two outs in the first inning. The rally continued when Matt Turner reached on a single and scored on Travis Riggs' two-run homer to left. Hansel followed with a solo home run to make the score 8-0. Edwardsville scored twice more before Tri City reliever Shaun Courtney finally struck out Adam Bernaia to end the inning. Post 199 scored four more in the third inning and put the game to an end after five innings.

Hansel and McCoy each went 2 for 3 with three runs scored. Bogle was 2 for 2 with three runs scored and seven RBI.

Edwardsville pitcher Jake Schutte allowed just three hits and three walks in four innings on the mound for Edwardsville, which had lost Monday night in extra innings to Collinsville to drop into the second tier.

"There's not much you can do," Tri City coach Chad Lignoul said. "I'm sure Devin was pumped up and ready to go, maybe too pumped up. He came out and couldn't really throw strikes. When you get behind those guys and you start to groove your pitches, it's a bad combination, because those guys can swing the bats. I'm sure (Edwardsville) were probably a little tired up after losing last night. They came out ready to go. Sometimes these things happen."

The final score didn't diminish the positive feelings of a strong finish for Tri City. Post 113 won six games in a row and nine out of its final 10 to end up in third place in the Blue Division. Two victories Saturday (against Alton and Bethalto) got them to the double-elimination round.

"That was a lot better, especially coming off of the high school season," Murphy said. "We finally found out how to win. It was fun."

"We had to battle so hard just to get where we were,"

Lignoul said. "The way we had to fight at the end of the season to have a good enough record to be able to do something, we had to play two extra playoff games, that makes this loss tough."

Tri City's season ended at 13-12. "I'm proud of these guys," Lignoul said. "They had a good season. They started off 4-10, and to come back to finish up

Troy pinned first defeat on Post 113

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

After posting two victories to reach the double-elimination portion of the American Legion District 22 tournament, Tri City Post 113 took a step back in Monday night's first-round game.

Tri City suffered a 6-0 loss to Troy, which had earned its spot in the double-elimination round by winning the North Red Division regular-season title.

Troy jumped on Post 113 in the bottom of the first with two runs. Trevor Yates led off the inning with a double and scored on Jared Hayes' two-run home run over the fence in right field at Arthur Fletcher Field in Collinsville.

Troy added another run in the second inning on Andy Lewis' RBI single, which drove in Kyle Weresmeier.

Troy added one more in the third when Yates walked, stole second, and scored on Justin McBride's single.

Mercer has been force behind the plate for Tri City

Catcher keeps opposing baserunners honest in District 22 playoffs, delivers key hits to help Post 113 advance from single elimination

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Tri City catcher Matt Mercer has not received his fair share of credit this season. But during the American Legion District 22 playoff games, just as he has done all summer, Mercer made life difficult for opposing baserunners.

The recent Granite City High graduate senior has not missed a beat in his busy summer of working behind the plate in punishing heat and humidity. In fact, Mercer was at his best late in the season, helping to lift Tri City to victories in nine of its last 12 games, including two wins Saturday in the single-elimination rounds of the District 22 playoffs.

In Saturday's opening game, a 2-0 victory against Alton, Mercer helped protect a one-run Tri City lead in the sixth inning when he gunned down two consecutive Alton baserunners trying to swipe second. His back-to-back plays ended an Alton threat and preserved Tri City's lead.

In the afternoon tilt against Bethalto, Mercer picked Kory Bohnenstiel off third base with one out in the second inning, squashing a potential Post 214 score. Mercer also went 2 for 3 at the plate and scored twice in the 5-2 victory which sent Tri City into the double-elimination round.

"He had a great day," Tri City coach Chad Lignoul said. "He's a smart kid, he plays hard. He is one of those guys who has been as steady as can be all summer. Every game he goes out the same. Like today (Saturday), he went out and played two and his game never changed. He is

"He is great at blocking the ball, he uses his head, he throws guys out. I could not ask for a better catcher in this whole league than Matt Mercer."

great at blocking the ball, he uses his head, he throws guys out. I could not ask for a better catcher in this whole league than Matt Mercer."

In Monday's loss to Troy, Mercer threw out three more baserunners trying to steal. Tri City wasn't able to make up the six runs it allowed, but Mercer's defensive heroics kept Post 113 in the game.

"This will probably be my last year playing baseball, so I wanted to make sure to do everything I could to help us win," Mercer said. "I think I did pretty well today (Monday), throwing out three guys."

At the plate, Mercer's game has been consistent.

"He hits," Lignoul said. "He'll tell you he's not a great hitter, but he's steady all the time and you always know what you are going to get out of him."

"I try to jump on the first-pitch fast-ball," Mercer said. "Most of these (pitchers) want to throw a strike on the first pitch. I think the key to high school baseball is jumping on the first pitch, so I have tried to do that all year. It's been working so far."

Mercer is a perfect representation of his team's character, displaying the ability to overcome - at times - sloppy play and win. That scrappiness helped Post 113 put together a six-game win streak late in the regular season and win two games Saturday to earn a spot in the double-elimination round of the District 22 playoffs.

"We are a scrappy team," Lignoul said. "We come out here and battle, make the plays when we have to, and Matt is a big part of that."

"We always seem to make a couple of mistakes, but these guys are just kids. With the good teams, what's important is how they deal with their mistakes and not just if they make mistakes or not. You have no idea how proud of these guys I am."

"We didn't get much respect," Mercer said. "We always come out slow in the first couple of innings, but a lot of times we get something done in the sixth and seventh. I think that's what Chad means when he calls us scrappy."

Though Mercer's Legion season ended Tuesday night with a loss to Edwardsville, Mercer saw the progress his team made this summer.

"We just needed to start hitting and we could have surprised some people in the double-elimination round," Mercer said. "When we play like this, we know it isn't going to last for very long. But that winning streak at the end of the season really helped us show people what we were made of, that we were a good team."

Troy has five players in all-star game

Nine selected from Edwardsville for game to be played Monday in Alton

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Troy Post 708 hit the jackpot in the 1999 selection of the District 22 North Division all-star squad. Post 708 had five players named to the all-star team, while Post 365 had three players named.

Edwardsville Post 199 was the biggest winner of all with nine players picked for the squad.

Those players, along with the rest of the North squad, will face their South Division counterparts 7 p.m. Monday at Gordon Moore Park in Alton.

Troy will be represented by pitcher Wayne Hubert (.327 batting average, 6-1 pitching record), infielders Jared Hayes (.397) and Justin McBride (.488) and outfielders Trevor Yates (.409) and Todd Baebler (.317).

Collinsville will be represented by catcher Wayne Astrauskas, infielder Dan Munoz and outfielder Justin Claytore.

"I'm happy with three guys being on the team," Post 365 skipper Steve Helmkamp said.

Post 365 defeats Edwardsville and Troy in District 22 North playoffs

By Brian Bretsch

A pair of eighth-inning home runs catapulted Collinsville Post 365 to a 13-11 victory against Edwardsville on Monday in the final of the District 22 North Division playoffs.

Post 365 then moved into the driver's seat of the North Division playoffs Tuesday with a 7-4 triumph against Troy Post 708 in the winners bracket final.

While Collinsville was 2-0 in the double-elimination format, Edwardsville Post 199 and Troy were 1-1 heading into a showdown Wednesday which would eliminate one team. The winner of that game had to beat Collinsville Post 365 twice to win the North Division title and earn a spot in this weekend's District 22 championship series.

"I hope we can end it (Wednesday)," Collinsville Post 365 skipper Steve Helmkamp said. "I'm a little apprehensive about our pitching. With Luc (Joshua) getting hurt, it really puts a cramp in it."

Joshua, one of the leading pitchers in District 22 this summer, was injured during one of the tournament games in what Helmkamp said was

Campo happy with first Gateway Classic

Inaugural basketball tournament drew 23 teams from five states

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

Steve Campo hopes to double his fun next year.

An assistant coach at Belleville Area College, Campo was one of the organizers for the inaugural Gateway Classic Basketball Jamboree

'99, which took place July 17-18 at BAC and the Family Sportsplex in Belleville. This year's tournament featured 23 teams from five states, but Campo envisions an even bigger event in 2000.

"We'll be meeting soon, and we're looking at doing a 48-team tournament," Campo said. "Next year, we won't be playing the same weekend as the girls tournament (Lady Slam IV), so that should help. The biggest thing in planning a tournament of that size is just starting early.

"We wouldn't even need any other facilities. Between the girls tournament and our tournament, there were 108 games last weekend. We'd have to find room for only 12 more games, and we can use six courts per hour.

"The Sportsplex (which has four basketball courts) is a great facility. It's big with a lot of space (for spectators)."

This year's tournament was supposed to have 24 teams, but Detroit Country Day had to cancel at the last moment. But once the tournament started, it was everything Campo had hoped for.

"It was a very competitive tournament—only one or two games got out of hand," Campo said. "Most games were within 10 points. It was a great chance for local guys to play teams from out of the area."

One of the local squads, Alton, lost 43-35 to Davenport (Iowa) Central in the championship game. Other Metro East teams were Collinsville, Mascoutah, Althoff, O'Fallon, Belleville West, Belleville East, Freeburg and Mater Dei.

"Alton is probably the second-best team in the area behind East Side (East St. Louis)," Campo said. "Davenport was undefeated throughout the whole tournament and looked really good. The Kentucky teams were very athletic."

13-11 after the first round of the playoffs) is pretty good. We are 13-13 now, we are still 500, which is still pretty good. That was after they had gone 12-22 in high school, so in eight or 10 less games we won more than the high-school team did. And it's tougher to win in the summer because all of those (high school) teams combine, there are three or four towns making up one team."

Post 113 hopes to build off the strong finish for a better season in 2000.

"Hopefully, with a lot of guys coming back next year, the high school team should be better," Lignoul said. "They have had a change of coaches and (new head coach) Daren DePew should help make it a more refreshing atmosphere for them. They have some good players coming back and I'm 99 percent sure that I'll be back."

"I was proud of them. When you run into this kind of thing, there is nothing you can do. I got some guys off the bench and gave them a chance to play. You just have to take your lumps sometimes."

stole second, and scored on Justin McBride's single.

The lead increased to 5-0 when Ty Baeberle doubled, stole third and scored on Nick Rahar's sacrifice fly.

Post 708 scored its sixth and final run in the sixth inning against Tri City starter Scott Schardon, who went the distance while allowing 10 hits and a walk. He struck out three.

"These guys have to come out to play," Tri City coach Chad Lignoul said. "Scott obviously didn't have a great night. He was behind the batters, threw a lot of balls. But then again, if you don't score a run, you aren't going to win the game."

Troy starter Wayne Hubert made sure Tri City did not score any runs. He allowed only six hits and walked none while striking out five.

"Wayne Hubert pitched very well for us tonight," Troy coach Doug Kreitner said. "He did everything right. He needed to work himself out of a couple of big jams, we got the help of a couple of double plays that we turned really well, and we worked ourselves out of some trouble. In the third, they had the bases loaded with nobody out and we got out of it, and that helped a lot."

Troy was 14-6 during the regular season, allowing it to hold off Collinsville and Highland for the division title and the bye through the single-elimination round. That free pass allowed Troy to rest its pitching staff for the double-elimination tournament.

"It definitely helped to save that extra game," Kreitner said.

Troy, which improved to 18-7 overall for the summer, played Collinsville on Tuesday night in the finals of the winners bracket. "Troy is a good team, there's no question about that," Lignoul said. "But we didn't really come to play, we didn't really play against them. They basically almost played the game by themselves. We didn't come out to hit, we didn't come out to pitch. I don't want to sit here and be too negative, but it was really a bad effort on our part."

After beating Alton and Bethalto in back-to-back contests Saturday in the single-elimination, Tri City seemed flat in the critical playoff game.

"I'm disappointed," Lignoul said. "This should be the biggest game of the year, and they came out here and weren't ready to play. But I can't play for them. It's their season that's about to end if they don't come out and play better. After the effort I got Saturday, I didn't expect this."

Collinsville wins first 2 in tourney

"Self-inflicted," Lignoul said at Arthur Fletcher Field in Collinsville. Post 365 beat Edwardsville, the defending national champion, for the first time in two years of Legion ball.

"We sort of took control of the pace of their pitcher," Lignoul said. "Our guys did an extremely good job of working the count."

Meanwhile, Collinsville pitcher Justin Hefflin helped Post 365 hold a 1-0 lead after four innings. Hefflin scattered four hits through four innings. Collinsville had an outstanding job through four innings," Hefflin said.

But then the offenses woke up.

Collinsville scored two runs against Seibert in the fifth to take a 3-1 lead.

Edwardsville came right back with six runs in the bottom of the fifth to take a 6-3 lead.

Collinsville came back with three runs of its own in the sixth to tie the score at 6-6. However, Edwardsville picked up a pair of runs to take an 8-6 lead.

"Our guys never quit all year," Hefflin said. "They had a certain game face on that they wouldn't be denied."

Post 365 tied the game with a pair of runs in the top of the seventh. Charlie Johnson relieved Hefflin to start the seventh and kept Edwardsville off the board.

Meanwhile, Collinsville tied the score 8-8 with two runs in the eighth. Wayne Astrauskas and Justin Clayton walked to start the eighth inning. Edwardsville moved its infield in to make a play on a possible sacrifice bunt by Adam Embick, but Astrauskas stole third and Clayton moved up to second on the throw to third.

Embick then hit a sinking line drive to right field, where Seibert was playing after being lifted from the mound. Apparently thinking Collinsville was the home team and that Embick's hit was the game-winner, Seibert did not field the ball immediately and Embick ended up with a three-run inside-the-park home run.

Dan Munoz followed with a single and Matt Briggs hit a two-run home run.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Jeff Gordon vs. Rusty Wallace

The feud between Gordon and Dale Jarrett will probably go away — after all, Jarrett leads Gordon by 389 in the point standings — but Wallace will not forgive Gordon so easily for the New Hampshire incident that sent Wallace into the wall. Wallace blamed Gordon for racing on the track's apron; Gordon blamed Wallace for forcing him down there.

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "Wallace and Gordon have a long history of getting together on the track, dating back to Gordon's last-lap rub-and-pass at Bristol two years ago, and Gordon has come out ahead in every instance. Wallace might feel as if he owes Gordon one, or two, or five."

PROFILE

Jimmy Spencer

Jimmy Spencer, right, says being accessible is what the sport is all about.

By Monte Dutton
 NASCAR This Week

Jimmy Spencer has experienced as many ups and downs as anyone on the Winston Cup circuit. Spencer experienced the thrill of victory twice in 1994, winning at Daytona and Talladega for car owner Junior Johnson, but since Johnson left the sport, Spencer has been unable to drive his way back into victory lane.

No one doubts Spencer's "want-to." If anything, Spencer's detractors suggest that perhaps he wants to win too much.

AGE: 42

HOMETOWN: Born and raised in Berwick, Pa., lives in Cornelius, N.C.

WIFE: Pat

CHILDREN: James (13), Katrina (11)

CAR: No. 23 Winston Ford Taurus, owned by Travis Carter

RECORD: 284 starts, 2 wins, 1 pole, 19 top-five finishes, 54 top-10s, more than $7 million in career earnings.

FIRSTS: Start (June 4, 1989, at Dover), pole (Sept. 30, 1994, at North Wilkesboro), win (July 2, 1994, at Daytona)

HOW IMPORTANT IS IT TO QUALIFY ON THE FIRST DAY? "It hurts any time you have to go second round because you lose that hour of practice for the race. Then you have to concentrate on your qualifying setup, and you wind up having to rely on notes you've put together from previous years when race day rolls around. That's a combination that may work, if you're lucky, but it's not as reliable as working on your race setup as soon as you qualify."

YOU HAD BEEN HAVING AN AWFUL YEAR UNTIL THE SUMMER ARRIVED, AND THEN THINGS STARTED GETTING BETTER. WHAT HAPPENED? "I don't know. Our problems have never been because the guys weren't working hard because, I'll tell you, nobody works harder than the guys on my team. At Pocono, we could have won, and at Sears Point, we got a top-five finish. I guess we just reached the point where we found a better way to communicate, where we stopped worrying and just said, 'Let's do it.' I don't know. I just hope we can build on that momentum for the rest of the year."

YOU'VE ALWAYS BEEN ACCESSIBLE TO THE MEDIA AND FANS, EVEN DURING BAD TIMES. "You know, when I heard that some drivers were not talking to the media, not signing autographs, it made me mad. Being so accessible and friendly is what made this sport what it is. Now that we're just reaching the height of popularity, it's not the time to quit being cooperative and withdraw. It's like killing the goose that laid the golden egg, you know?"

Trackside Trivia

1. What kind of car did Richard Petty drive in the first Daytona 500?
2. Who drove the Tim Flock Special in the Southern 500?
3. Who drove the pace car at Daytona's first Firecracker 400?

(1) Oldsmobile convertible; (2) Darrell Waltrip; (3) Walter Cronkite

Who's Hot... Who's Not

HOT: Dale Jarrett's point lead is as secure as ever, feud or no feud.

NOT: How many times can Tony Stewart knock on victory's door without getting an answer?

Tour de Donut combines eating, riding over 30 miles of Staunton country roads

The 11th annual Tour de Donut combined a 30 mile bicycle race through country roads near Staunton with two stops, where participants were to eat as many donuts as possible. About 350 riders competed for honors in both racing and eating. Clockwise from top left: Bill Menchak of Troy grabs donuts at his first of two donut stops...The first group of "serious" riders head for the first donut-eating stop. Most checked in and passed through without eating...A lone rider makes his way up one of the few large hills on the course...Maryann Sieber of Edwardsville heads toward the finish line at Staunton High School... Staunton residents Cielia and Harold Bean watch the race from their driveway...A rider heads back to the course after a donut stop.

Skating tourney set for Fairview

Ice Sports Complex will host qualifying event

By Becky Garrison
Staff writer

Fairview Heights will host its first figure skating tournament this fall.

The U.S. Ice Sports Complex will host the Gateway Invitational, a qualifying event for the United States Figure Skating Association, said John Arbeiter, operations manager.

Arbeiter said the St. Louis area is part of the Upper Great Lakes Region, which encompasses about 8 states.

Arbeiter said he is excited about the skaters coming to Fairview Heights.

"It's incredible to host an event like this in a facility that's brand new," he said. "It's a feather in our cap."

Mayor Gail Mitchell said he talked with attorney Kathryn Davis, who represents the Gateway Invitational, last week and said the deal is done.

"She was impressed with our facility and the invitation will be in Fairview Heights on Sept. 30," Mitchell said. "In August of 2000, the tourney will bring 600 skaters and the regional tournament held later that year will bring 1,000 skaters and their families to Fairview Heights," he said.

College singing group to perform

Frontline, a 10-member group of singers and instrumentalists from Evangel University in Springfield, Mo., will appear in concert at Faith Family Church in Swansea, at 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, the Rev. Rick Hufton said.

Frontline was founded in 1990 and has traveled extensively throughout the United States and Canada, ministering in youth camps, conventions and churches.

Fair will celebrate medieval life

2nd Renaissance Fair set for two weekends at SIUE

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

From singers to swashbucklers, from bawdy to educational, the second annual Renaissance Fair at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will have something for everybody with medieval tastes.

Promoters said fair-goers this year should expect to see a "much larger fair." The fair is a fund-raiser for the Trails West Council, Boy Scouts of America.

It will be held over two weekends: July 30 to Aug. 1 and Aug. 7 and 8.

"I think patrons this year will see a much larger fair, and a real good cross-section," said Mark Blackmon, festival director for Aries Entertainment, which is running the festival. "There's a ton of stuff."

Entertainment will include Menagerie, a troupe of traveling minstrels; The Merry Wenches of Windsor, a troupe specializing in "bawdy" comedy; Emperor Dark's Karnival Macabre; musician Jeannie Henry; storyteller Carol Mercer; Celtic musician Jim Whetzel; and a variety of musicians, jugglers, a sword-swallow and other street performers.

There will be two fighting groups performing. The Warriors of Legend Falls will be returning to the festival. It is a 15-member troupe specializing in "heavy" weapons such as broadswords and polearms. During demonstrations, the warriors take on personas ranging from nobles and tax collectors to hunters, barbarians and "knee-breakers."

Also appearing will be the Rum-Runners, a group with a pirate motif.

Blackmon said pirates are popular this year.

"A lot of the renaissance fairs ignore pirates," Blackmon said. "We had a lot of people come to us with new acts around a pirate motif and we decided to have some fun with it."

The Hanlon-Lees Jousting Knights of Chicago is expected to be a major attraction this year.

"Hanlon-Lees is probably the finest jousting group out of the country," said Mark Blackmon, festival director for Aries Entertainment, which is running the festival.

"They do all the major fairs," he said. "They were very difficult to get; we were in negotiations for about four months."

Members of the Society for Creative Anachronism from both Missouri and Illinois perform a Scottish folk dance at last year's festival.

Fair-goers will also have a chance to purchase items ranging from weapons, if they are 18 or older, to medieval-style clothing. "We have merchants coming in from as far as New Mexico, and the fair will include a working blacksmith's shop."

"We've got about three clothiers this year, including a hatmaker," he added.

The festival is patterned after a summer fair from about 1550, during the Middle Ages. It will include merchants, actors, storytellers and combat demonstrations.

Presiding over the event again will be King Valerian III and Queen Verity of Orcane, who will lead a progression through the fair and bestow knighthood on worthy supplicants.

The festival will be at the Cougar Lake Recreation Area. Tickets are $7.50 for adults; $5 for senior citizens, SIUE students and children 5-16 years old; and $3.50 for scouts. A four-day pass is available for $12. Advance tickets are available through the Trails West Council at 259-2145.

County fairs set in Belleville, Waterloo

St. Clair County Fair opens Tuesday

Livestock extravaganzas highlight Monroe event

It wouldn't be summertime in southern Illinois without a county fair, and this year's St. Clair County Fair at the Belle-Clair Fairgrounds promises to be even bigger and better than ever.

The St. Clair County Fair will take place this year from Tuesday to Saturday. The fairgrounds are located at 200 South Belt East at Route 13 and Route 159 in Belleville.

Nearly 60,000 visitors are expected this summer, said Al Wandling, Manager of the Exposition Center. "This Fair is a tradition since 1854, which makes it one of the oldest fairs in Illinois," Wandling said. "We've made it a real family affair."

Wandling, his staff, and the St. Clair County Fair Board of Directors plan the Fair each year, which is free to all who attend.

The only things requiring tickets or money are carnival rides, food, special events in the arena, and on-site parking.

Parking is $3 to park on the grounds, although free street parking is available.

Rides on the midway vary, with a pay one price of $12 per person being offered July 27, and 12 ride tickets for $10 being offered Thursday, July 29th. All rides take one ticket.

Arena events such as the Demolition Derby run from $9-12 for adults, $7 for students aged 12-17; $3 for children ages 5-11; and free for children under the age of 5.

The Fair will offer everything from exhibitions to entertainment to contests, and it is unique in that guests will have the comfort of seeing much of the exhibitions and entertainment in the comfort of air-conditioned buildings.

Exhibitors from all over the State of Illinois will be on hand to offer crafts, food, siding, home shows displays, religious and political information, pots and pans, and just about everything in between. The Exposition Center will even offer the world's fastest lawn mover, featured on the popular television show "Home Improvement."

"That's why people like the Fair - they can see everything here!" said Chris Cox, of the planning office at the Exposition Center.

This year's competitions include poultry, swine, sheep and beef and dairy cattle judging, as well as contests in other categories such as breads and cereals, canned products, fresh vegetables, horticulture, floriculture, fine arts and textiles, wood projects, paintings and photography.

There are also divisions for people with disabilities as well.

Delectable delights, livestock extravaganzas, tractor pulls, art and craft exhibitions, breathtaking rides, and fair pageants - all with a Monroe County flavor - await fairgoers at the 52nd annual Monroe County Fair held July 25 through Aug. 1 at the fairgrounds in Waterloo.

Fair organizers are stressing this year that the weeklong event has something to offer for people of all ages and interests. "We tried to plan something for everybody," said fair president Ron Niebrugge.

His words are corroborated with a look at the fair schedule, which includes everything from musical entertainment to livestock shows and nearly everything in between. The fair's nightly entertainment lineup features several high profile events likely to draw large interest from fairgoers.

Aside from the entertainment, the fair will feature 300 to 400 exhibitions in produce, cooking, needlepoint, livestock, photography, horticulture, floriculture, and countless other items of interest, according to fair secretary George Obernagel. For the younger crowd and adventurous adults, the fair's midway will provide breathtaking thrills.

'Eyes Shut' entertaining, not a classic

A marriage is like an egg. The slightest jostle will crack it wide open. And yet, it is strong enough to withstand pressure from both ends.

In "Eyes Wide Shut," Stanley Kubrick's intelligent probe of the scratchy intersection between love and sex, the egg cracks.

film, Kubrick's last, is hardly a masterwork. It lacks the simple passion of "Paths of Glory," the bite of "Dr. Strangelove" and the brilliance of "A Clockwork Orange" and "2001."

And at times, the pacing falters and the film is disturbingly tedious. But his meticulous eye does beautifully capture the terrifying ease with which a glimpsing other, profound twists of sexuality: a father who pimps his adolescent daughter; a grieving daughter who transforms the love she had for her father into a passion for his doctor.

At the heart of the story, inspired by "Traumnovelle," a 1926 novel by the Viennese writer Arthur Schnitzler, are Alice and Bill Harford (Nicole Kidman and Tom Cruise), an affluent young couple who move among Manhattan's privileged few.

Alice is a housewife and mother; Bill is a doctor. The Harfords are so complacent in their marriage, so seemingly comfortable, that they take each other for granted.

Alice gets tipsy at a party and dances flirtatiously with another man, while Bill charms two silly models in another room. But they love each other, and that's enough glue to keep them together. Until...

Alice gets stoned on pot and confesses a sexual fantasy to Bill. It involves a naval officer they once saw in public who so attracted her that in her mind, she would have been willing to give up everything for one night in bed with the stranger. Although she hastens to add that her husband was never dearer, her confession hits Bill like the 8:15 from Babylon. Fear, anger and insecurity consume him; images of Alice engaging in wild sex take hold and won't let go.

Once on the street, Bill is taunted by a group of punks who think he is homosexual. He happens upon a nightclub where an old friend, Nick Nightingale, a pianist, is finishing a set with his combo.

He has a quick drink for Nick, who reveals he's on his way to a secret masquerade ball. The pianist is kept in the dark—literally: He must wear a blindfold when he plays.

Bill sees the password, worms an invite and begins a journey that threatens not only his sensibilities and values, but also his marriage and possibly his life.

Kubrick gives great care to each scene. It's the little things that matter, like ornate, elaborate talking Venetian masks; or the opening scene in which Kidman, her back to the camera, allows a slinky black dress to slip down her naked body to a crushed heap on the floor.

Animals show great talents

Trivia

Kevin Carbery

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

Sometimes, I stop and take stock of my life and am able to feel somewhat content about it.

I have a job. I'm still invited to family gatherings. I've never been convicted of a major crime.

Yet, when I stack my accomplishments up against those of famous animals, my accomplishments pale. I have never appeared as a cast member in a film or a television show. I've never been shot up into space. I am not able to catch a Frisbee with my teeth.

When I go to my reward, I'm sure I won't be remembered as fondly as is Phil the gorilla at the St. Louis Zoo, even if I were to be stuffed and put on display.

This is not sour grapes. I admire the work of many critics. I thought Marcel the monkey was a hoot on the sitcom "Friends" and I wish I had the athletic ability of Secretariat. The animal tricks on "Late Show with David Letterman" often are incredible.

Animals also can be heroes. Remember Binti Jua, the gorilla who protected an unconscious 3-year-old boy who had fallen into her enclosure at the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago? How many people could be counted on to act as responsibly as that gorilla in a similar situation?

I wonder how much better a rich and famous animal's commercials, any happier than my dog, Rosie?

For this week's trivia quiz,
the topic is famous animals and the people associated with them.

2. What was the name of the horse that was the only surviving animal or person from Gen. Custer's troop at the battle of Little Big Horn?
3. What was the real name of the dolphin that starred in the show "Flipper"?
4. The great thoroughbred Man o' War's only loss in his career was to what horse?
5. Which human is famous for being the owner and trainer of Lassie?
6. Which president's family had a dog named Pushinka and hamsters named Bluebell and Marybelle among their many pets?
7. P.T. Barnum caused an uproar when he bought what creature and took it to the United States in 1882?
8. Morris was used in commercials for what cat food?
9. Laika the dog was the first living creature to do what?
10. Which president had a ram named Old Ike that grazed on the White House lawn?

'Fiddler' set for Althoff stage

By Christopher England
Staff writer

The local production of the award-winning play "Fiddler on the Roof" has been reduced in size and length in more ways than one.

"Fiddler on the Roof Jr." opens at 7 p.m. Friday and will be performed again at 7 p.m. Saturday with a cast of children ages 7-14.

The music will be performed at Althoff Catholic High School, 5401 W. Main Street in Belleville, in the air-conditioned cafeteria.

Tickets are $5 for adults and free for children under the age of 14, keeping with the idea that Musical Theater should be introduced and accessible to all children.

The Studio at the Broadway Center of Arts will present this play about family and traditional values and roles in a Russian Orthodox village. The theater arts troupe has been eagerly awaiting the opening after only beginning rehearsals July 12.

Rehearsals and the eventual show are part of a two-week summer mini-camp called July's Junior Musical Camp. The musical was chosen by Elaine Laws, director and producer of the play and partner in the camp, from a Broadway Junior Collection of plays.

"The junior collection of plays is Broadway hit plays that are converted and adapted for students in grades 3-9," Laws said.

According to Laws, the camp has helped students improve their communication skills, self-esteem and respect for others as they have explored their own creative voices. She further explained that the camp is designed to teach discipline, responsibility, teamwork, dedication and a true appreciation of the arts.

Laws joined Kathy Mordini, director of the Broadway Center of the Arts, in 1996 to create this camp. The camp usually runs for two weeks in July.

'American Pie' entertains, despite plot

Film is funny, but lacks edge

At 17, when testosterone charges through a young man's body like the bulls of Pamplona, everything is about sex and how to get it. And for the awkward adolescents in "American Pie," the biggest challenge is how to lose their virginity.

For Sherman, the solution is to lie about his sexual experience. Finch pays a friend 200 bucks to make sure all the girls at school think he's a killer stud in bed. Oz, a simple-minded jock, joins the school chorus so he can hook up with a blonde cutie, while Kevin consults a secret manual of sexual do's and don'ts that has been passed down by generations at school.

And then, there's Jim. He gets up close and personal with dirty tube socks and mother's apple pie.

Jim provides a reason why this coming-of-age movie is called "American Pie," and the defining scene, in which he tries to simulate a sexual act with dessert, is a gross-out. You'll think twice the next time someone offers you a slice of apple pie.

You'll also think twice about ever sipping beer, or any drink, from a friend's cup. The brothers Weitz, Chris and Paul, make their feature film debut as producer and director of this Universal Pictures release, and they could not have thought up a more nauseating scene than the beer episode. You'll probably gag, as did some audience members at a recent press screening.

And then there's the plot. It's so thin, it makes Calista Flockhart look like a poster child for Weight Watchers. Here's the skinny: Four middle-class suburban boys try to score. Ooooh, the sweet mystery of it all. Do they succeed? What do you think?

But plot isn't everything. In this case, fun is. And "American Pie" has some genuinely funny moments, like Jim's on-line sexcapade with a foreign exchange student and his bedroom tango with the band geek dominatrix. The movie's humor, though, is uneven, and the film falters with sometimes deadly pacing and overdone silliness as a substitute for wit.

As a coming-of-age piece, it lacks the edge and social redemption of "Porky's" and the sassy writing and knock-outperformances of "Animal House" and "Fast Times at Ridgemont High." Nor is it a smart film like "Election."

Take away the nudity, sexual content and sleaze, and "American Pie" has the look and feel of a television series expanded into a two-hour special. The actors have that homogenized, bland all-American TV look. Sadly, there are no break-out performances. There's no Sean Penn or Reese Witherspoon to keep the film afloat. And, with the exception of the band geek Michelle, and Jim's dad, who takes an active interest in his son's sex ed, the characters aren't very memorable and seem to be ordered up from a Central Casting mail-order catalog.

But if the Farrelly Brothers and "Austin Powers" are any indication, people love gross; they love toilet humor and lewd, crude and rude. You'll laugh and you'll smile, but here's also fair warning that you might just lose your cookies.

Jason Biggs, from the TV soap "As the World Turns," plays Jim; the apple pie is unbilled.

Chris Klein, last seen as Paul Metzler in "Election," is Oz, the group's self-appointed Casanova; Alyson Hannigan is the talky, geeky flute player; Shannon Elizabeth gets to bare her breasts as the exchange student Nadia; Eugene Levy does his usual droll take as Jim's father.

Natasha Lyonne is wasted in her role as Jessica, who helps Finch's reputation; Thomas Ian Nicholas is a forgettable Kevin, who is in love with Tara Reid's Vicky (we're asked to believe that this twitette has been accepted by Cornell University).

"American Pie" was produced by Chris Weitz, Warren Zide, Craig Perry and Chris Moore. Paul Weitz directed from a screenplay by Adam Herz.
